

From: varghese@emirates.net.ae@inetgw
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 12/6/01 10:46pm
Subject: Shame

Dear Sir

It is terrible to think that even the last bulwark against Microsoft is crumbling. The unfortunate future generations have to pay for your follies. Now, nobody could save this world other than God.

How could DoJ type of bodies ignore Microsoft's evil practices and help it to become a monopoly. Is it just vested interested? Then why should you exist?

It is like America was ignoring global terrorism for quite some time and in some cases even using it to further its interests. Finally it had to pay the price with its own innocent citizens' lives. It is going to happen with MS also. One day they will become a terror and nobody will be in a position to challenge them.

Regards